CUSTODY AGREEMENT

This Custody Agreement is entered into as of January 15, 2027 by Harbor Lantern Investment Trust, a Delaware statutory trust ("Trust"), and Maple Quay Custody Corporation, a New York corporation ("Custodian").

1. Appointment. The Trust appoints the Custodian to hold the securities and cash identified in written account instructions. The Custodian accepts that appointment solely for safekeeping, settlement and recordkeeping. The Trust retains responsibility for investment selection and the legality of its transactions.

2. Instructions and accounts. The Custodian shall act only on written instructions from persons listed in the Trust's current authorization schedule. It may decline an instruction that is incomplete or reasonably suspected to be fraudulent, provided it promptly notifies the Trust. Assets shall be recorded separately from the Custodian's own property.

3. Statements and fees. Monthly account statements shall be delivered within ten business days after month-end. The Trust shall notify the Custodian of discrepancies within thirty days after receipt. The Trust shall pay a monthly custody fee of $1,800 within thirty days after invoice receipt.

4. Standard of care. The Custodian shall exercise reasonable care in safeguarding assets and processing instructions. It is not an investment adviser and does not guarantee asset values. Each party shall protect account credentials and promptly report suspected unauthorized access.

5. Term and termination. The initial term ends January 14, 2028. Either party may terminate earlier on sixty days' written notice. On termination, the Custodian shall transfer the assets to the Trust's designated successor, subject to lawful transfer instructions. Accrued fees remain payable.

6. Applicable law and proceedings. This Agreement and disputes arising from it shall be governed by New York law, without applying conflict-of-law rules that would select another jurisdiction. Proceedings shall be brought exclusively in state or federal courts located in New York County, New York. The Trust's Delaware formation and any asset location do not change this choice of law.

7. Notices and amendments. Notices shall be sent by overnight courier to each party's principal office and take effect upon delivery. Amendments require a writing signed by both parties. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement concerning the described custody services.
